What to Call - Passion

Passion Is:

- ❖ Great powerful emotion – although the dictionary says “any” it doesn’t necessarily become useful as applied to ALL emotions
- ❖ Eagerness, zeal – a fervent enthusiasm
- ❖ Fire in the belly – an ongoing participatory determination
- ❖ Often signaled by deep frustration (not petty ones but deep)

What to Call - Passion

Passion Is Not:

- ❖ Rage – Anger is anger, passion is passion and tho they both have at times, very high energy the undercurrent of passion is much more enduring than the flameout of rage
- ❖ Suffering – despite huge agreement, there is no need to suffer for your passion; suffering doesn't make you more passionate, it simply impedes your experiencing the joy of it
- ❖ An excuse for out of control behavior – wherein we justify our action regardless of the impact because we were just being “passionate”

The Passion Trap

❖ The Passion Trap occurs when Passion “takes over” and starts with being caught inside a repetitive cycle that expands to become a roller coaster of experience ultimately leading nowhere.

Passion at Play

Passionate Play (Passion at Play)

- ❖ Occurs when one is fully connected to what is deeply important to them
- ❖ Has an enduring ‘fire in the belly’
- ❖ Requires 0 motivation since it is being called out of one’s essential nature to fulfill
